

Test the Team

What is it?

The ultimate in playalong quizzes - a hilarious evening of questions, quandries and quiet pigeon-holing...

Based on television's 'Test the Nation', Test the Team is a game show designed to challenge or affirm popular ideas about people.

Do the IT guys really know it all? Is the management on the ball? Are the younger colleagues the better historians? Let's find out!

How does it work?

Guests are divided into teams according to trade, hobby, hair colour or any other attribute you can think of.

The rivalry between these groups adds to the fun; our game show host will create banter between groups, talking to team members and maintaining friendly competition. During the event, 70 multiple choice questions are read out by our host and displayed on monitors. These questions are separated into 7 'test' rounds of 10 questions, with a different subject or theme for each test.

Test the Team is highly flexible. As well as general knowledge and topical question rounds, we can include a tailored set of questions to produce a test about your company or business, or to highlight key messages.

Typical test rounds include:

- IQ test
- The relationship test
- The great British test
- The popular music test
- The big entertainment test
- The 20th century test
- Know your English test

Everyone can answer these questions using interactive touch pads or text messaging. Their answers are then recorded and a computer creates statistics about team performances after each round – allowing the host to comment about trends between the groups' performances.

At the end of the 7 tests, the team with the most points will win. The statistics will be shown and the different beliefs surrounding the various teams could either be discounted, or well and truly proven!
