

Camelot

What is it?

A mythical day/evening of entertainment. Camelot is a fun day or party concept incorporating a multitude of medieval themed attractions.

King Arthur, Merlin and chums have just finished quashing the latest Saxon invasion of Olde Briton. After a week of arduous sword wielding, magic conjuring and maiden rescuing, the Knights of the Round Table have decided to relax by throwing an extravaganza of a party at their pad – Camelot. The castle gates are open and everybody is invited, peasants and Lords alike.

Step up to the legendary court of King Arthur and enjoy the revelry.

How does it work?

Camelot Day Event

Unless the bearded wizard has been up to his time-bending magic tricks again, Camelot runs as a day long event.

Throughout the day, there will be a range of archaic activities and entertainment suitable for all. Aural ambience is created by medieval musicians, and the valiant Knights of the Round Table oversee an array of entertainers, epic action activities and themed backdrops:

- Jesters and wandering minstrels
- Fire Eaters
- Stilt walkers and poets
- Themed props including a stone effect bar, griffin statue and suits of armour.

- Armour plated warriors conducting exciting sword fights
- Expert archers instructing visitors in firing arrows from a longbow
- After guests try their hand at jousting, a spectacular display by the professionals can be given. Ouch!

Ever fond of education, the medieval folk will also teach guests to brew mead and weave baskets, and as the disruptive village idiot is locked up in our stocks, it is also possible to experience Ferret racing and Falconry.

It's the stuff of legends.

Camelot Evening Option

At the end of the day, as folk pat down their cloaks and tunics a bountiful Hog Roast can be served. As guests enjoy the feast and chat about the 'lovely weather we've been having' with Arthur, Lancelot, Guinevere and the gang, an evening entertainment show can be provided by the musical cabaret 'Broadway Knights'.

You decide on all pre/post dinner performers and entertainment for the evening:

- Wandering minstrels providing a musical backdrop
- Tarot-readers and fortune tellers
- Medieval bards, poets and comedians
- Knightly choreographed sword-fights
- Stilt walkers
- Dancers
- Fire eaters
- Side stalls
